A. "A Robot's Smile" / 8 points

Read the following text carefully. Then, answer the questions that follow.

Hana can't be your best friend," sighed Mom. "Why not?" said Chimlin. "Hana plays games with me, listens when I'm sad, and even tells me my favorite stories."

"But Hana's a robot. The things it does are its functions. It's just following a program." "I don't care," said Chimlin. She grabbed one of Hana's three mechanical hands and dragged the metal box into her room. "Don't listen to Mom," said Chimlin once they were alone. She was patting Hana on what might have been a head if Hana had a head.

Hana was a box with four wheels for feet and three metal arms. It had several lights and switches, but nothing that looked like a face. "Let's play a game," suggested Hana.

The Hero of the Village

Once upon a time, in a small village surrounded by tall mountains, there was a doctor named Dr. Lina, known for her courage and kindness.

One cold winter's day, a young boy named Timmy came to her house, his face pale with worry. "Dr. Lina, my sister Lily is very sick! Please help!" he cried. Dr. Lina quickly realized it was an emergency. Lily's fever was rising, and she needed help right away. Dr. Lina said, "I'm capable of helping, Timmy. Don't worry; I'll take care of her."

Despite the snowstorm outside, Dr. Lina decided to go to Lily's house. The wind howled and the snow was deep, but Dr. Lina didn't hesitate. She knew that if she didn't intervene, Lily might get worse. After a long, difficult journey through the storm, Dr. Lina arrived at Lily's house. She quickly examined Lily and gave her the medicine she needed. Lily soon felt better, and Timmy's face lit up with gratitude. "Thank you, Dr. Lina! You're a true hero!" Dr. Lina smiled and replied, "We all help each other, especially in times of need."
